Before deciding on an aesthetic procedure of any kind, you should be fully informed about the products being used in your procedure. Make an appointment with your practitioner, and use this as a starting point in your discussion.

Ask your practitioner:

1

Which brands of products are used, and why?

Notes:

2

Has the product been extensively tested and researched?

Notes:

3

Is the manufacturer one you trust, and why?

Notes:

How widely is the product used around the world?

Notes:

How satisfied are your patients with the results?

Notes:

Additional Notes:

The more information you have, the more confident you will be about your procedure.
